LOOK BRIGHT TO QUAY.

Mr. Quay's bright side for a moment to May 10.

Senator Quay consented to tear himself away long enough to see his friend, David Martin, with whom he has in secret conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning, to see an Evening World reporter. He positively declined to be interviewed, but being pressed for an expression of opinion on the situation as viewed by him, he said: "Oh, the outlook is very bright."

"For Harrison?" inquired the reporter. The senator said the door and disappeared. It is now that the campaign manager has arrived in town all the campaign managers including Chairman Carter, have been looking to the Pennsylvania for points.

The senator and his friends were up late last night consulting on various important points connected with the campaign in this state and in the West, and as a result none of them put in an appearance at headquarters this morning.

It was said that in circulation last night to the effect that Quay had stated that New York State could not be carried by Harrison was greatly exaggerated. It was said that this morning, what Quay did say, they say, is that Harrison could win with New York State, and that Quay figures to show how this could be done.

This, however, is generally regarded as one of the Pennsylvania campaign managers' bluff, and very little attention is being paid to it outside of Republican circles.

WAS IT ASIATIC CHOLERA?

Jersey City Heights Excited Over a Suspicious Death.

County Physician Disagrees with Those Calling It a True Case.

There was considerable excitement in the northern portion of Jersey City Heights this morning in consequence of a reported fatal case of cholera.

William Bonner, a carpenter, aged twenty-eight, of 111 Franklin street, went home from work to his dinner at noon yesterday, in apparent good health. He was soon after wards taken ill and died in great agony at 1:20 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Joseph H. Rooney, of 45 South street, who attended Bonner, pronounced it a genuine case of Asiatic cholera.

City Physician John B. Henry, of 168 Congress street, was summoned for consultation, but did not arrive until twenty minutes after Bonner had died. He, however, coincided with Dr. Rooney that death had resulted from cholera.

County Physician Converse was also summoned. After making inquiries he pronounced it a very bad case of cholera. Dr. Converse was seen this morning and made the following statement:

"I was sent for early last evening, but being engaged at the time did not arrive at the house until twenty minutes after Bonner had died. The symptoms seemed to show that it was a genuine case of Asiatic cholera."

"Bonner was vomiting and purging. He had violent cramps, convulsions and contortions of the face and the countenance presented a doughy appearance. I have no doubt that it was a case of genuine Asiatic cholera."

"I notified the police, and had the house in which another family lived quarantined. The mother of the child took away a quantity of excretion to be analyzed, until which time the question as to the real cause of death will have been communicated to the bed, which caused the dense smoke. The loss will not exceed $25."

Little Hattie's body was taken to the Madison street police station and later removed to a chair that stood near to the house.

she used only a gas range, which was not lighted, she had never known Hattie to play with matches, but the match box was on the mantel over the stove and could have easily been reached by Hattie as she climbed upon a chair that stood near to the house.

The neighbors think that the little girl took a match behind the bedroom door and that she had been playing with it. Upon finding her own clothes on fire, rushed into the hall for help.

READING GETS BOSTON & MAINE.

Will Thus Control All New England Coal Traffic.

Boston, Oct. 26.—There were important developments in railroad circles to-day. Parties largely interested in the Boston and Maine and Philadelphia and Reading railroads have made a friendly alliance, which cannot fail to prove of great benefit to both systems.

Vanderbilt interests were not the Boston and Maine stock purchasers as currently believed, but President McLeod, of the Reading combine, his friends and associates.

The deal completed will give Reading control of the entire coal traffic throughout New England.

VARNISHERS' STRIKE GROWS.

Its Cause an Announced Reduction of Wages.

The trouble between the United Brotherhood of Progressive Varnishers' Union No. 1 and their employers promises to be more serious than was expected when the men went out. The strike is due to the employer's avowed intention of reducing wages from eight hours work, which was the rate for the last two years, to $2.50.

Delegate Otto E. Hupold, of the Varnishers' Union, said today that Herta Bros., of Thirty-second street and Fourth avenue, had capitulated, but that the other shops were holding out.

To-morrow morning the men working in Baumgardner's shop in the city will go on strike because of the employment of men from the Custom Varnishers' Association, who have been declared "scabs" by the Brotherhood.

The custom varnishers' organization has refused to call its men out when asked to do so by the Brotherhood.

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Union Varnishers in Clarendon Hall to-night, when a report on the action of the Custom Varnishers will be discussed.

MISS CARLSLAKE'S JURY OUT.

A Verdict Expected in Her Breach of Promise Suit To-Day.

TRUNK, N. J., Oct. 26.—There was not a vacant seat this morning in the Mercer County court-room when the trial of the breach of promise suit brought by Miss Emma Carlslake against Robert Jenkins for $20,000 damages was resumed.

Among those within the rail were Mrs. Bella Parnell and Dr. Jenkins's wife, whom he married a short time ago. Mrs. Parnell is an intimate friend of the Carlslake family, and yesterday she gave testimony favorable to the plaintiff, Mrs. Jenkins sat near her husband.

The case was closed and given to the jury just before 1 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Jenkins and his wife were in the witness box. Dr. Jenkins admitted this, but said he had done it to punish the girl for coming home late. Justice Walsh gave father and daughter a lecture.

Another Case of Small-Pox. Vincenzo Haglio, ten months old, whose parents live at 112 Mulberry street, was removed to the Riverside Hospital this morning for small-pox. He was taken from a small-pox patient who was taken from the same house.

Disorderly Houses Razed. Annie Winkler and Margaret Schenkel, both of 38 Irvington street, and Annie Greenwald, of 38 East Fourth street, in Essex Market court, to-day were ordered to vacate on charges of conducting disorderly houses. Seventeen inmates were freed as a result.

Abused Old Aged Parents. Justice Duffy, in the Essex Market Police Court to-day, sent Michael Jennings, twenty-four years old, of 130 Cherry street, to the house for one month for abusing his aged parents.

Robbing Grocery Wagons. James Campbell and James Gleason were sent to the penitentiary for two months each by Justice Walsh, of Brooklyn, this morning for robbing grocery wagons in all parts of the city.

Wire News in Brief. The buildings of the Indiana Wire Manufacturing Company at Indianapolis, burned at midnight, Oct. 25, were insured for $100,000.

Gen. J. M. Tuttle is dead at Camp Grant, Ariz. He was one of the most prominent of Iowa's war officers.

MRS. SCHRIBER WENT OUT FOR A FEW MINUTES.

When She Returned Little Hattie Was in a Big Fix.

A mother's unintentional carelessness caused the terrible death of pretty little year-old Hattie Schriber, daughter of David Schriber, a tailor of 141 East Broadway this morning.

The Schribers live on the third floor of the double tenement at that number. The husband and father was at work and Mrs. Schriber went to the butcher shop in the basement about 9 o'clock, leaving little Hattie to watch her two-year-old brother.

She was gone barely five minutes, but when she returned she saw a spectacle that at first froze her with horror, and then caused her to shriek with terror.

Little Hattie was rolling about on the floor in the hall before the door of the apartments, her clothing a mass of flames. Her brother stood by transfixed with wonder, scarcely comprehending the situation, while a cloud of dense smoke poured out of the door.

The other tenants alarmed by the mother's frantic screams and the increasing smoke, poured out into the hall and for a few minutes the fire was under control.

Those with cooler heads wrapped up the blazing little form and hurried across the hall to the door of the apartment.

At 141 East Broadway, while others turned a sharp alarm.

Little Hattie was sent to Governor's Hospital for an ambulance, but before it arrived she had been commuted to the bed, which was burned almost to a crisp. Her clothing being entirely consumed.

The incident was a short work of the fire, which was found to have started back of the bedroom door, where hung some clothing. The fire had been communicated to the bed, which caused the dense smoke. The loss will not exceed $25.

MR. HILL AT TAMMANY HALL.

Immense Crowds at the Democratic Ratification Meeting.

Seven Overflow Meetings Addressed by Eloquent Orators.

Long before the hour set for last night's big mass-meeting, East Fourteenth street was filled with a mighty throng, all eager to gain admission to the big red brick building and hear the political thunderbolts to be put forth by the Governor-senator of the Empire State.

By 6:30 o'clock the street was impassable to street cars and vehicles without the aid of the police and when torches lit up the scene outside stands, where the spell binders were to address the overflow audiences, the crowd was materially increased.

Nearly five thousand people packed themselves into the big Tammany Hall like sardines and waited patiently for the orators of the evening to appear. Their spirits were kept up by the band at the edge of the gallery, which rendered National and popular songs.
